

Before February ended, we were lucky enough that the skies dropped a good amount of snow here in the valley. The kids have been thoroughly enjoying it making snow forts, snow creatures, and making the most of the white stuff. We kicked off March first with national pancake day, having all the NES students enjoy some freshly made pancakes all together in the gym. Friday March third will be NES second health day with guest speakers Liz Howard, Sophie Mack and Matthew McGregor.

There will be a PAC meeting at NES library on March 8th at 6:30. March 9th is a half day of school as that evening will be parent teacher interviews. A letter was sent home with students so parents could pick a preferred time and what other teachers you would like to see. If you did not receive this letter, please call the school to organize a time. Hot Lunch will be Sloppy Joes on March 14 for all of NES to enjoy. These hot lunches have been organized and made by Jalysa Dixon, the NES staff and students want to thank her for all the hard work she does to keep our bellies full. NES will have their Scholastic book fair from March 6 until March 17. Students will be allowed to shop at recess and lunch. The last day of school before March break is Friday the 17th and the school reopening on April 3rd.

NES was busy the last week of February with global play day, anything but a backpack day, pink shirt day and boardgame showcase. On February 22 NES went down to BCE for the afternoon, they got buddied up with a student from BCE and rotated between anti-bulling posters, gym activities, and crafts. It was really nice to see the two schools interact, the NES students were kind, generous and great roll models while the BCE students had huge smiles looking up to the older kids.

NES students have been working hard on making their own boardgames which some were very proud of. Last Friday (24th) for the last hour of school the students were allowed to try the boardgames that other students had made. Many laughs were had, some great winners and some taking the loss in stride. It was great to see all the kids creations come to life and at the same time allowing other kids to play and connect at school.

Reminder : the West Coast Seeds fundraiser is happening now until April 1st. We are fundraising for our end of year trip and the school receives 40% of every packet sold. To shop, head to fundraising.westcoastseeds.com and select shop. When checking out, remember to choose Nusatsum Elementary School in the drop down menu as your organization. Orders will ship to NES around the middle of April and be distributed from there.
